Poll of Candidates Of Interest To Local Voters

With a record breaking outpouring of votes, Tuesday's primary was one of the hottest contested elections held in years.

The county formerly was a strong-hold for Len Small, but this time Small ran way behind and C. Wayland Brooks was the choice of the Republicans as nominee for governor at the election next fall. Carlstrom ran third in the race. The returns of 91 out of 98 precincts of Will County showed the following returns:

Brooks 9,050
Small 6,849
Carlstrom 984

The dairy farmers made good their threat to dump Bundesen Democratic candidate for governor and rallied their forces to the support of Gov. Henry Horner with the following results:

Horner 10,403
Bundesen 3,959

In the Republican state representative race Lottie Holman O'Neill and Warren Wood were victors with John L. Walker former representative third.

The returns from the 41st senatorial district showed the following:

O'Neill 27,405
Wood 24,228
Walker 12,904

On the Democratic ticket Michael Henneby, veteran Democratic legislator, was again an easy victor. With six opponents on his ticket Henneby led the race with 18,381 votes.

Coming down to the county offices the big fight centered on state's attorney of Will County. The big scrap was on the Republican ticket with James E. Burke being the victor against Wm. R. McCabe present incumbent, who was a candidate for renomination.

Charles Blim who had entered the race for this office, served notice at the 11th hour that he had withdrawn from the race and would throw his support to Burke. With 91 out of 98 precincts reporting the results were as follows:

Burke 9,547
McCabe 7,495
Dr. E. A. Kingston, veteran Lockport physician and surgeon was renominated to the office of coroner on the Republican ticket with the following total:

Kingston 10,902
Andrew 4,567
Klobutcher 1,067

Francis J. Loughran nosed out J. Harold Downey for the nomination of state's attorney on the Democratic ticket. Returns showed 7,058 votes for Loughran and 6,105 votes for Downey.

On the Democratic ticket George J. Buttell, Jr., was nominated to the office of circuit court clerk. J. Bert Blackburn was nominated to the office of recorder of deeds.

Wm. J. Barrett, Lockport clothing merchant rolled up the largest Democratic vote of any county candidate. He was nominated to the office of auditor with 9,109 votes.

W. W. Smith was renominated on the Republican ticket to the office of recorder of deeds with 8,279 votes.

Paul V. Wunder was renominated on the same ticket to the office of clerk of the circuit court with 8,112 votes.

In the local field the office of precinct committeeman was not contested on the Republican side, Elmer L. Cooper was renominated as committeeman at Mokena and Albert H. Krusemark as committeeman at Frankfort without opposition.

A lively fight for the precinct committeeman office on the Democratic ticket ensued at Mokena where Albert Hentsch and Robert Maue were candidates. Maue polled 84 votes, Hentsch 64 votes, Maue's majority being 20 votes.

Mokena, second precinct of Frankfort township, favored Wm. E. Borah for President with 130 votes and Frank Knox with 89 votes.

TINLEY AWARDS AND MOVIES END SATURDAY

This coming Saturday night marks the end of the moving picture shows and the awarding of a special $10 prize by the Tinley Park Business Men's Association.

Ever since last August the business men of Tinley Park have been issuing trade copons and been conducting a vigorous advertising campaign which has resulted in a big increase in local trade. The merchants backed up their advertising with quality goods and right prices.

Every Saturday night the awarding of the $10 prize attracted hundreds of people to Tinley Park. During the late fall and winter months moving pictures were shown at the Tinley Park school auditorium which drew large attendances.

Among the big activities of the Business Men's Association last fall was a giant carnival held in October which went over big and showed what live business men can do.

The discontinuance of the shows, and the giving of trade coupons and the $10 prize award does not mean that the Tinley Park Business Men's Association are going to quit their activities, but quite to the contrary, they are planning on new features and activities for this summer to take the place of the features being discontinued. Just what the new features will be has not been revealed as yet and they will be a surprise when announced.

One of the big activities for which much planning is already being done, will be another big carnival which is to run thru the Fourth of July week, providing five night's of thrills and fun galore. There will be all kind of concessions and booths and a gay time is being planned for old and young.

A carnival company has already been contacted and from present indications everything looks fine for a very successful carnival which it is expected will draw hundreds of people to Tinley Park and the Tinley Park merchants will offer many bargains during the big carnival days.

Watch for further details and announcements regarding the various events.

Don C. Hall Sr. Called to Texas

Don C. Hall who recently returned to Mokena from the South, advises he has been assigned to manage the western pagentry in "The Streets of all Nations" at the Texas Centennial Exposition which opens at Dallas June 6. He will have charge of directing a company of 400 persons.

Brooks led with 162 votes. Len Small who used to poll a heavy vote here, received only 67 votes.

On the county slate, Wm. R. McCabe for state's attorney received 104 votes, James E. Burke 112 votes. For circuit clerk, Paul V. Wunder, 147. David O. Carter, 38; Louis H. Piepenbrink 28.

For recorder, Wm. W. Smith, 156 votes. For auditor, Thomas K. Sprague, 172; Ernest W. Balgeman 28. For coroner, Elwood A. Kingston 144; Michael Klobutcher, 13 and Lloyd B. Andrew 62.

For precinct committeeman, Elmer L. Cooper, 209. A total of 257 Republican votes were cast.

On the Democratic ticket in Mokena precinct two, Frankfort township, 125 votes were cast for President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Gov. Henry Horner received 111 votes, Herman N. Bundesen 16 votes.

For State's Attorney Francis J. Loughran, 43; J. Harold Downey 57. Clerk circuit court, Geo. Buttell, Jr., 69; Stanley Zobel, 29. For recorder J. Bert Blackburn 76; Leahm J. Kelly, 15. County auditor Wm. J. Barrett 82; Wm. W. Mollan 14. Coroner, Londus B. Brannon 90.

A total of 152 Democratic votes were cast in this precinct.

Orland Park P.T.A. Hold Meeting; Is Entertained

The regular meeting of the Orland Park P.T.A. was held in the school auditorium April 9th at 8 p. m. The regular business was meeting was held and the special election was carried over to the next session. A new nominating committee, consisting of Mrs. Louis Arnold, Mrs. Thos. Davidson and Mrs. Hilda Cox was appointed.

The evening's program was in charge of Mr. Linden and Miss Masters.

Marvin Schmaedeke and Lucille Cooper sang, "With All My Heart", and "Beautiful Lady in Blue".

The girls Glee Club consisting of: Eleanor Cox, Charlyn Knox, Bernice Rust, Phyllis Brickee, Maye and Lucille Reisch, Margaret Cooper, Mary Ellen Heatherwick, Lucille Cooper, Janetta Turpin and Lellie Anders, sang, "The Family Clock", "Aunt Marge", "Redsails in the Sunset" and "Wah-hoo."

A pantomime was presented entitled, "The Oyster Man", with Maye Reisch taking the reader's part and Donald Cleveland, the youngest oyster and Charlyn Knox as the young maid and Floyd Cooper, their father. It was very interesting and well played.

The moving picture, "Trees to Tribuna" was presented and Mr. Bell spoke and explained some of the high lights of the picture. A very interesting, educational and pleasant evening was spent.

The state P.T.A. convention will be held April 15, 16 and 17 in the Stevens hotel in Chicago. Mrs. Sherman Knox and Mrs. John Kesser will attend as delegates and Mrs. Geo. Cox and Mrs. Earl Reisch will alternate.

Major F. D. Francis, Retired, Passes On

Major Frank D. Francis, a retired United States officer and a native of New Lenox, succumbed to an extended illness last Sunday at Tampa, Florida at the age of 57 years.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Bertha Francis, his mother Mrs. G. L. Francis and a brother, G. Harlow Francis of Joliet.

Burial took place in Washington, D. C.

School Election

In the school election held at New Lenox Saturday afternoon, Dewey Moore was elected president of the Board of Education with 119 votes. Two members of the Board were elected as follows: Bessie Strausburg 148 votes, Wm. Kay 140 votes. A total of 168 votes were cast.

Legion Auxiliary

Thru the co-operation of Mayor Fred Rice of Blue Island, Peter J. Henitz, well known Blue Island realtor and John Volp, publisher of the Blue Island Sun-Standard, the Tinley Park American Legion Auxiliary were able to present an interesting and educational safety program which was held in the Tinley Park public school an April 9 at 2:30 p. m. with all students, teachers and principal attending. There also were many people from the community in the audience who were interested in this program. A two-reel film was shown depicting the careless ways in which fires are started, what to do and to avoid in case of fire.

Safe driving for autoists, how to drive safely, how to observe signals, etc., was also very interesting and timely.

A very fine moving picture of the Blue Island Centennial celebration held last fall was also shown and much appreciated.

The Tinley Park Legion Auxiliary thanks the gentlemen above mentioned for their splendid co-operation in making the program the success it proved to be.

BLUE ISLAND PUTS ON BIG AUTO SHOW

The Blue Island Lions Club, Business and Auto show which opens in the Eagles Hall in Blue Island April 16 and continues to a grand finale on Saturday, is one of the best exhibitions of its kind held in this vicinity. On the main floor of the hall representative business houses of Blue Island will occupy booths with interesting and educational displays featuring the latest developments in each particular entry. Prizes and contests of all kinds have been arranged for and style shows will be a part of the program each night. Keeno or Bingo will also be played with valuable merchandise offered. Vaudeville and music by Irene Hegner Jerstrom's orchestra, well known Chicagoettes, have been provided.

On the lower floor will be an exhibit of well known automobiles in the latest and most elaborate styles with all the features of comfort and convenience displayed.

The program will vary each night and the matinee will be given Saturday from 2 to 6. The Business Promotion committee appointed by President Henry G. Baumann and headed by J. E. Steinhart, have spared no effort in making this entire production a success in every way. Admission is only a trifle and tickets are available at most any Blue Island business house and from all members. The proceeds will be used to supply beautiful silk flags for the school rooms of the city.

News of Interest To Garden Clubs

The Joliet Woman's Club annual Garden Program will be held in the Universalist church auditorium, Friday afternoon April 17 at two o'clock.

Mrs. Preston Rice is the speaker of the afternoon and will speak on, "The Hardy Garden in Continuous Bloom".

Following the program, a Garden Party will be held in the adjoining assembly hall which has been laid out by Joliet Florists and Nurserymen in a Garden Creation.

Guests will be Mrs. Walter Seymour, Mrs. Wallace B. Combs, Mrs. E. G. C. Williams.

Mrs. A. E. Grinton is chairman of the program assisted by Mrs. Richard Barr.

Will Open Office

Dr. B. J. Rooth of Chicago has made arrangements to open a new dental office in the Folker Building in Frankfort on or about May first, taking over the location formerly occupied by Dr. Serron, who returned to Joliet sometime ago.

Meet To Make Plans For Will Co. Centennial

A meeting will be held at the village hall in Frankfort next Monday night, April 20th at 8 o'clock to which the old time residents of Frankfort township are invited to furnish historical information about this township to be used in the Centennial celebration of Will County to be held from May 31st to June 4th.

Frankfort Votes Heavy Republican

In Frankfort which is precinct 1 of Frankfort township, 441 Republican and 97 Democratic ballots were cast. Borah was the Republican choice for President, Brooks for governor. On the state's attorney office Wm. McCabe was in the lead. On the Democratic side Horner was the high man for governor. Only 8 votes were cast for Bundesen.

Orland Township Dem. By 14 Votes

Orland township normally a Republican township cast 216 Democratic votes at the primary and 202 Republican votes. The most interesting locally centered on the township committeeman. The contest was between Fred E. Yunker and L. A. Cleveland, the latter winning by 15 votes. The Democratic township committeeman, Andrew Ludwig had no opposition.

LOCAL POLITICS CAUSE OF BIG VOTE IN TINLEY

Tinley Park took more interest in the primary election last Tuesday than ever before for the reason that a big fight was on for the office of township committeeman on the Republican ticket. The opposing candidates were Charles F. Nielsen, assessor of Bremen Township and Edward A. Reimer, town clerk of Bremen township. As a result of this local contest a very large vote was registered. A total of 638 votes were cast for Nielsen and 568 for Reimer. The Tinley Park precinct went about solidly for Nielsen enabling him to win by a margin of 70 votes. In the Tinley Park precinct 476 Republican votes were cast and 160 Democratic votes.

On the Democratic ticket Harry Clarke was an easy victor for the office of township committeeman of Bremen township.

Frank Knox was given the preference for president by the Republicans and Brooks for governor. The Horner ticket won out overwhelmingly on the Democratic side.

It is said that the township committeeman contest brought out more Republican votes than would otherwise have been cast.

ILLINOIS
BREVITIES

Dan W. Johnson, one hundred and two, Civil war veteran, died at his home in Ashley.

Fire of undetermined origin caused damage estimated at $25,000 to the tippie of the Old West mine in Springfield. The mine employs 400 workers.

William E. Pratt, sixty-eight years old, wealthy manufacturer of Joliet, died at his summer home at Grayslake.

Dr. T. C. Wilson, seventy-one, well-known Champaign county physician, who retired in 1916, died. Interment was at Carmi, his birthplace.

Harmon W. Reed, a retired Chicago business man, was put forward by the unanimous vote of the Illinois Prohibition party as its candidate for governor.

Because Chicago succeeded in reducing motor vehicle accidents from 16,875 in 1934 to 15,559 in 1935, Mayor Kelly accepted the National Safety Council plaque, the city's award for third place in the fourth annual national safety contest.

Adoption by the Illinois legislature of the revised criminal code prepared by the Illinois State Bar association was urged in resolutions passed by Governor Horner's third annual state-wide crime conference in its closing session in Springfield.

Thomas Kerrick, eighty-seven, former state senator and Republican whip, died in Bloomington of a mastoid infection. Mr. Kerrick owned and managed thousands of acres of land. Known as one of Bloomington's leading lawyers and for more than fifty years active in civic and philanthropic affairs, he was also prominent as a stock raiser and farmer.

A. C. Albin, sixty-five years old, known as "Captain" Albin of Newman, is dead. He was known for his success in the oil fields of Kentucky. After years of searching and buying oil leases, he "struck it rich" and came back to Douglas county with $800,000 which he invested in land and oil leases. He was a benefactor to many people.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Page of Jerseyville celebrated their sixty-fifth wedding anniversary. Mr. Page will be ninety-one on May 20 and Mrs. Page will be eighty-four on May 15. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Stokes of Lincoln also observed their sixty-fifth wedding anniversary. He operated the Lincoln Times for a number of years, and was postmaster 12 years.

A reduction of 8.4 per cent in April allotments to all county relief committees was decreed at a meeting of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, which found itself lacking $519,034 of the $5,232,054 required for the month. The various county administrators will work out the cut as they see fit, so that in some counties certain families will have their relief budgets reduced more than 50 per cent where no allowance is made for rent or other nonemergency items.

Governor Horner's prison investigating committee made an inquiry into conditions at the Oakdale state reformatory for women which is located in Dwight. There are at present 220 women inmates, 102 of whom are serving terms for murder or manslaughter. Helen H. Hazard, the superintendent, gave the commission her views of the prison routine. "There appears to be here a very intelligent understanding and sympathetic administration and an operation as economical as possible," said Bishop J. H. Schlarmann, chairman of the commission.

A plan to invite state-wide participation in the celebration of Lorado Taft's seventy-sixth birthday on April 20 is to be made by members of newspaper, school, club, and business groups of the state. The initial announcement was featured in the April issue of the Illinois Journal of Commerce which briefly sketched the life of the sculptor and listed the more important of his works. A committee has been appointed to contact organizations and to recommend special meetings, study classes and library observance of Mr. Taft's career.

Maj. Arthur R. Lord, assistant state administrator of the Works Progress administration, announced the closing of two WPA work camps and the absorption of most of their occupants by a Resettlement administration project. The camps closed are near Kilbourne and Chanderville in Mason county. About 250 of the 438 men in the camps were moved to the Pere Marquette recreational project, for which the Resettlement administration has purchased 3,000 acres of land in Jersey county, just below the meeting place of the Illinois and Mississippi rivers. The other workers were shifted to the remaining five work camps in the state. The former WPA workers are being put to work at reforestation, road building and grading, and the construction of shelter buildings, cabins, and playgrounds. Scheduled for completion this autumn, the project will be consolidated with the adjoining state park.

Having voted for 14 Presidents, Peter P. Hammer, seventy-eight, of Tuscola, has applied for United States citizenship. He did not learn until a few days ago, when he applied for an old age pension, that he was not a citizen.

Three Illinois State Normal university women students were injured in Bloomington in a collision involving automobiles driven by John Blum and A. L. Sargent. Those hurt are Miss Grace Kellar, eighteen, Streator; Miss Georgia Hostettler, nineteen, of near East St. Louis, and Miss Emma Josephine Scott, nineteen, Dwight.

Here's Wettest Spot in the United States

THE wettest spot in the United States is only 12 miles distant from a point where the annual rainfall is less than eight inches a year. On the summit of Mt. Waialeale, territory of Hawaii, here pictured, the annual rainfall as recorded by the United States geological survey averages 462 inches. At Barking Sands, famous as the terminus of early trans-Pacific airplane flights, the average is less than eight inches, although this is only a dozen miles away from the nation's wet spot. These extremes of precipitation are found on the island of Kauai, northernmost of the principal islands of Hawaii.

BEDTIME STORY FOR CHILDREN

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

THE GREAT FIGHT

DOWN from the top of the ridge back of the pond of Paddy the Beaver plunged Lightfoot the Deer, his eyes blazing with rage. He had understood the screaming of Sammy Jay. He knew that somewhere down there was the big stranger he had been looking for.

The big stranger had understood Sammy's screaming quite as well as Lightfoot. He knew that to run away now would be to prove himself a coward and forever disgrace himself in the eyes of Miss Daintypoot. He must fight. There was no way out of it; he must fight. The hair on the back of his neck stood up with anger just as did the hair on the neck of Lightfoot. His eyes blazed. He bounded out into a little open place by the pond of Paddy the Beaver and there he waited. Meanwhile Sammy Jay was flying about in the greatest excitement, screaming at the top of his lungs: "A fight! A fight! A fight!" Blacky the Crow, over in another part of the Green Forest, heard him and took up the cry and at once hurried over to Paddy's pond. Everybody who was near enough hurried there. Bobby Coon and Unc' Billy Possum climbed trees from which they could see and at the same time be safe. Billy Mink hurried to a safe place on the dam of Paddy the Beaver. Paddy himself climbed up on the roof of his house out in the pond. Peter Rabbit and Jumper the Hare, who happened to be not far away, hurried over where they could peep out from under some young hemlock trees. Buster Bear shuffled down the hill and watched from the other side of the pond. Reddy and Granny Fox were both there.

For what seemed like the longest time, but which was for only a minute, Lightfoot and the big stranger stood glaring at each other. Then, snorting with rage, they lowered their heads and plunged together. Their antlers clashed with a noise that rang through the Green Forest and both fell to their knees. There they pushed and struggled.

It was a terrible fight. Everybody said so. If they hadn't known before, everybody knew now what those great antlers were for. Once the big stranger managed to reach Lightfoot's right shoulder with one of the sharp points of his antlers and made a long tear in Lightfoot's gray coat. It only made Lightfoot fight harder.

Back and forth they plunged and the ground was torn up by their feet. Both were getting out of breath and from time to time they had to stop for a moment's rest, still with their heads together. Then they would push and shove and strain again more fiercely than ever. Never had such a fight been seen in the Green Forest.

COOK BOOK

SALAD DRESSINGS

THE basic dressing which is more used than any other is french dressing. Prepared with a sweet, fresh olive oil there is no dressing more appetizing. One may use any of the table or salad oils in place of the olive if preferred. Take six tablespoons of oil, two of vinegar or lemon juice, one teaspoon of salt, one-fourth teaspoon of white pepper or a few dashes of cayenne. Beat thoroughly until well mixed. Adding a small piece of ice will hurry the mixing. For a sauce to serve with cold meats and tongue use:

Worcestershire French Dressing.
Add to the french dressing one and one-half tablespoons of worcestershire

SELF-TYING HANDKERCHIEFS

THIS trick is both quick and startling. The magician begins by borrowing two handkerchiefs. He tosses them in the air. As they fall, the magician catches one of them.

The spectators are amazed to see that the second handkerchief has tied itself to the first. The magician is holding one, with the other dangling from it.

To conclude the wizardry, the magician passes his hand over the knot, which promptly disappears. The handkerchiefs are returned to their owners.

Though surprising, this trick is easily performed. The magician has a small rubber band over one thumb and forefinger. He slips the rubber band over a corner of each handkerchief.

When the handkerchiefs are tossed and caught, they appear to be tied together. The supposed knot is vanished by stroking the handkerchiefs and drawing away the rubber band.

WAITING FOR A RAINBOW

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

WAITIN' in the rain for a rainbow,
Sighin' in the dark for the dawn,
Hopin' for the weather
To change altogether,
Waitin' for the rain to be gone—
That'll never get you very, very far.
That'll only leave you settin' where you are.

Weather gettin' wetter,
Nothin' gettin' better—
No, you'll never get there, that is pretty plain,
Wishin' for a rainbow, just waitin' in the rain.

Workin' in the rain till a rainbow
Brightens up the gray of the sky,
Even when it's rainin'
To work uncomplainin',
Waitin' for the clouds to go by—
That'll always get you farther on your way,
That'll make a pleasure out o' ev'ry day.
Heaven gettin' brighter,
Labor gettin' lighter—
Only way to get there, that is purty plain,
Not waitin' for a rainbow, but workin' in the rain!

Humming Birds Can't Walk

Humming birds have tiny feet but can't walk. They can slide along a branch but cannot move as much as an inch. If they want to travel that distance or more they fly up and then down to the desired spot. When they fly they pull their feet in, like a streamlined airplane, cutting down wind resistance.

Lesson for April 19

GOD, THE FORGIVING FATHER

LESSON TEXT—Luke 15:11-24.
GOLDEN TEXT—Like as a father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear him.—Psalm 103:13.

PRIMARY TOPIC—A Boy's Good Father.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Welcome Home.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Is God Like?
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—God's Forgiving Love.

The center of interest in this parable is not the prodigal nor his brother, but the "certain man who had two sons." In this parable, in a most picturesque and dramatic manner, the history of man is portrayed from his fall to his reconciliation with God. The whole orbit of revelation is swept as it pertains to a sinning race and a pardoning God. He who fails to see the heart of our Father God will miss the purpose of the parable. It should be understood and taught not as a piece of far-off ancient history, but as a portrayal of modern conditions.

I. The Son's Insubordination (v. 12). There is every indication that this was a happy home, but a devil entered it and stirred up discontent in the heart of the younger son. He became tired of the restraints of home. His desire for freedom moved him willfully to choose to leave home to throw off the constraints of a father's rule. Sin is the desire to be free from the restraints of rightful authority and is selfish indulgence. It starts out with wrong thoughts about God.

II. The Son's Departure (v. 13). Having made the fatal decision, he went posthaste to the enjoyment of his cherished vision. He, therefore, got his goods in portable shape and withdrew from his father's presence. Adam and Eve, after they had sinned, hid themselves. The son could not stand the presence of his father, so he hastened away. When the sinner casts off allegiance to God, he takes all that he has with him.

III. The Son's Degeneration (vv. 13, 14).

He had his good time while his money lasted, but the end came quickly. Indications are that his course was soon run. From plenty in his father's house to destitution in the far country was a short journey. The sinner comes to realize the "famine" when the very powers which ministered to his pleasure are burned out.

IV. The Son's Degradation (vv. 15, 16).

His friends lasted only while he had money. When his money was all gone he was driven to hire out to a citizen to feed swine. It was indeed a change from a son in his father's house to feeding swine in a far country. It is ever so that those who will not serve God are made slaves to the Devil (Rom. 6:16). This vividly portrays the story of many men and women about us, and is a picture of the inevitable consequences of sin.

V. The Son's Restoration (vv. 17-24).

1. He "came to himself" (v. 17). When he reflected a bit he was made conscious that though he had wronged his father and ruined himself, yet he was a son of his father. In the days of his sinning he was beside himself. The sinner continues in sin because he is insane. The world calls the sinner who leaves off his evil ways crazy, but in reality he has just become sane. If sinners could be induced to think seriously of their condition, it would be easy to get them to turn from their sins.

2. His resolution (v. 18). His reflection ripened into resolution. The picture of his home, where even the hired servants had a superabundance, moved him to make a decision to leave the far country and go home.

3. His confession (vv. 18, 19). He acknowledged that his sin was against heaven and his father, that he had forfeited his rights to be called a son, and begged to be given a place as a hired servant.

4. His action (v. 20). Resolution will not avail unless accompanied with action. When the confession is genuine, action will follow.

5. His reception by his father (vv. 20-24). The father had not forgotten his son. No doubt during these years he longed for the son's return. He must often have looked for him, for he beheld him when he was a great way off. So anxious was he for him that he ran to meet him and fell upon his neck and kissed him. So glad was the father that he even did not hear the son's confession through, but ordered the tokens of honor to be placed upon him, receiving him back into a son's position. Then the feast was made, expressive of the joy of his heart. God is love; Jesus came to reveal God. This parable lays bare God's heart.

A Good Heart

A good heart, a tender disposition, a charity that shuns the day, a modesty that blushes at its own excellence, an impulse toward something more divine than mammon; such are the accomplishments that preserve beauty forever young.—Lord Lytton.

Virtues

Great souls are not those which have fewer passions and more virtue than common ones, but those only which have greater aims.—La Rochefoucauld.

National Topics Interpreted
By WILLIAM BRUCKART
NATIONAL PRESS BLDG. WASHINGTON, D. C.

Washington.—In the last few weeks in Washington, we have heard little about any governmental affairs except taxes. Every-

All Talk About Taxes—Every one charged with responsibility for maintenance of government credit or the maintenance of the supply of cash to carry on the era of spending is talking about taxes. It is in truth the predominant subject, overshadowing even the lobby investigation headed by Senator Black, Alabama Democrat, with that committee's record of obtaining private telegrams by subterfuge.

It really is not startling that everyone should be talking about taxes because, however you examine the question of government at this time, your analysis must inevitably lead back to the question of the source of funds. And how could it be otherwise? We have a national debt $5,000,000,000 larger than it has ever been before, and still going higher; we have seven or nine or eleven million people unemployed—depending on the source of your information on this point—and we are confronted with declarations from President Roosevelt and his advisers that more must be spent. It seems perfectly obvious, therefore, that saner minds should be examining the whole economic structure of the nation to determine from whence the money is to come.

Congress is in the midst of working out a new tax bill. The house of representatives, where revenue legislation must originate, according to the Constitution which is still operative, is up to its neck with the tax problem. It is trying to work out a tax bill that will carry out the White House orders to take more money from corporations by levies on surpluses along with some minor schemes of taxation designed to increase the total somewhat.

During the time the house ways and means committee was trying to formulate a tax program on the basis of the President's tax message, there was a perfect deluge of tax discussion hereabouts. I think it may be said in this connection, also, that the house ways and means committee did a rather ridiculous thing as a preliminary to presentation of a tax bill to the house. It actually began hearings on tax legislation without a tax bill in legislative language having been drafted. As far as I can learn, it was the first time that witnesses were called in and asked to testify as to the efficacy of proposed tax legislation when there was actually no language in legislative form about which those witnesses could testify, either for or against. All the committee had before it was a so-called "committee report," a statement of its views as to what ought to be done and it was almost pitiful to witness individuals who are expert on taxation attempting to catch on to some will-o'-the-wisp and say that it was sound or unsound. Yet, that was what Chairman Doughton, Democrat, North Carolina, and his committee asked them to do.

Perhaps I ought to explain for the benefit of those not acquainted with tax legislation that there is nothing so important in a tax bill as the exact language. There are few places in law where the use of a particular word or the placing of a particular comma makes so much difference. In tax law, the dotting of an i and the crossing of a t are, indeed, important.

One benefit has accrued from this situation, however, and I hope, as I believe everyone else desiring good government and proper laws hopes, that it will result in a tax bill generally more acceptable than has been proposed thus far. The maelstrom of discussion that has arisen from the house ways and means committee hearings has made a good many people "tax conscious." Being "tax conscious" at this time, a good many men capable of thinking straight have begun to offer suggestions.

Wheeler's Suggestion—I have been receiving some of them myself and one that has come to me has impressed me so much that I am going to use the substance of it in this column. It comes to me from Mr. Harry A. Wheeler, widely known business executive and banker of Chicago. Mr. Wheeler has been recognized for a quarter of a century as a man who is given to looking rather far into the future and for his ability to analyze problems, circumstances and conditions on a long-term basis rather than on urgency of current requirements.

"Since the consideration of the corporate surplus tax act began," Mr. Wheeler wrote me, "I have watched the proceedings closely for some alternative proposal that would produce a substantial tax revenue and yet tend to strengthen the program of the administration to assure continuing business recovery, create definite added employment in industries still down, and lower production costs and prices to the ultimate consumer.

"No one denies that increased federal revenue by taxation is imperative, but it may be open to argument whether this can best be produced by the direct route of tax levies to cover full requirement or by beginning with a plan that will produce a large proportion of the requirements and permit the use of the remainder to accomplish the results first above stated.

"The proposal is very simple, quite capable of being written into legislative provisions; it would carry a clear guarantee of useful results and reach the final full requirements of the government by progressively increasing taxable profits.

"I propose that whatever per cent of undistributed profits may be determined upon as the tax base, permission shall be given for a draw-back or retention of say 20, 25 or 33 1/3 per cent on condition that this amount shall be used for capital expenditure to improve and cheapen production and distribution facilities.

"The draw-back may be by repayment to the taxpayer upon voucher evidence that the amount has been actually expended or by credit upon the second year's tax levy.

"Corporations will not fail to use this remainder and perhaps even add to it out of their available corporate resources.

"Permanent goods industries will at once be stimulated by the knowledge that purchases will be made to an aggregate of the draw-back, and stimulation of employment must result in most needed quarters.

Stimulate Industries—The universality of this improvement in production and distribution facilities will create the competitive conditions that will compel savings to be passed on to consumers, but if any corporation tries to hold the added profits they will be taxed away in the following years.

"Living standards may be raised by making more commodities come within the range of prices the public will pay. "Forced distribution in dividends to escape corporate high brackets will find a large part being paid to stockholders taxed in very low brackets and the result over all is not unlikely to prove disappointing.

"Increased tax rates on income or earnings leads to the struggle to avoid payment by every device that can be developed. It may be that this plan of draw-back would distinctly modify this tendency."

It is the first time that I have heard from any source the suggestion that the tax law should be made an instrument to encourage business recovery and promote employment. All of the objections heretofore have been directed at the character of the proposal and have not included constructive thoughts which could be used as a new base. Mr. Wheeler's plan may not be complete. It may not represent an answer to the tax needs in their entirety, but it must be said in its favor that it suggests an approach to the necessary answer and embodies therein a plan of action which will not kill the goose that lays the golden egg. In other words, it has been proved too many times to require discussion that higher tax rates reduce the incentive and the chief opposition to the administration proposal is just that. It takes away the incentive of the corporations to make more money which would be available for taxation. The Wheeler proposal, therefore, offers an incentive to corporations to proceed with plans of expanding their operation and thereby increase the number of workers on their pay rolls.

I repeat that I do not know whether the Wheeler program is the complete answer but the fact that a man of his status in the country's business life is giving consideration to the tax problem on a long-term basis leads certainly to two conclusions. These conclusions are, first, that the country is nearing the limits of what might be called reasonable taxation and, second, that a very great majority of our people believe some consideration should be given to the need for an end to government spending.

Nearing Tax Limit—If taxation has reached the point where an overexpanded federal government requires so much money that it must take away the backlogs, the reserves of business, then it is quite apparent that a shrinkage in this structure called government must begin. If it does not, one could reasonably say that government credit is endangered, or will be if the spending continues much longer.

We have been using up our resources actually in billions for the construction of many different types of things from which no earnings accrue. Then, in addition, I think no one can deny but that there has been wide-spread waste of these funds. It is a splendid thing to have excellent roads, fine public buildings, beautiful parks and restored forests, etc., but they have to be paid for out of taxpayers' money. Moreover, there is no profit available from any such investments that can be taxed. That money is gone, dead. It is fine to have those things if we can afford them, but beauty of the countryside won't fill empty stomachs.

TALL TALES

As Told to:

FRANK E. HAGAN and
ELMO SCOTT WATSON

A Tribute to the Master

IT MAY be news to some that Baron Munchausen, champion liar of all times, was a real person who really did exist. (No foolin').

The real Baron Munchausen was born in 1720 in the little town of Bodenwerder, on the Weser river, Germany. Like other German youths of his day he served as an officer of the Russian army against the Turks. Retiring at the age of thirty, he returned home to live and to talk.

The baron's delightful conception of a talk was to seat himself at a generously supplied table and relate his fabulous adventures to a charmed circle. All his tall tales were about himself; most of them concerned also his famous horse.

Once he almost lost the horse. Riding over snow at night, the Baron, so he said, hitched to what seemed to be a post. He went to sleep and, on awakening, found the snow melted and his steed hanging by the bridle from a church steeple!

The old home town of Bodenwerder has erected a monument in memory of its most distinguished son. The monument shows Baron Munchausen seated on his famous half-a-horse, the latter drinking at a fountain but unable to quench his thirst because all the water ran away.

The baron didn't know it but the sturdy horse had been cut in two by a falling portcullis as his master rode hastily into a besieged town.

"Relatively Speaking—"

GORDON C. LYNCH of Wilmette, Ill., is a gentleman farmer forced by economic conditions into the path of self-preservation.

"When I started production of superior eggs west of Waukegan, Ill.," says Lynch, "my setup consisted of 257 laying hens; but within eight days the establishment increased by exactly nineteen of my own and my wife's relatives.

"These volunteer devotees of drum sticks and white meat made serious inroads on my supply of hens. Something must be done.

"At great trouble and expense I obtained two flamingoes and three swans which I permitted to intermingle with some chickens in a special pen. Soon we began to hatch a peculiar species of fowl, featuring a neck which stretched from one room's end to another. One neck, indifferently cooked and laid out on a special table, provided food for all my visiting relatives. Two of them pretty near satisfied the kink of Mrs. Lynch.

"Our food problem was solved but other hazards arose. Relatives continued in such numbers I was afraid the laying hens would become excited. The relatives were jolly, carefree, distinctly informal. So I added a penguin to the special pen and his correct, black-and-white attire soon contributed a quite formal flavor to the necks which discouraged guests. Relatively speaking, we are now free of all problems."

Hat Fit for a Queen

SHERIDAN GALLAGHER says that his annual income is the highest in Chicago. That's because he manages the Board of Trade observatory, more than one-ninth of a mile above the pavements.

Gallagher's office is directly below a statue of Ceres, pagan goddess of grains and harvests, whose featureless face and aluminum form serve also as a smokestack for its own and an adjacent building.

"Some folks are difficult to please," Gallagher philosophizes, squinting up at the statue. "That building next door is so much lower a terrific draft is created by our smokestack. It's necessary for shovels and other articles to be fastened in the engine room, else they'll come flying out around the feet of Ceres.

"One sparkling day a woman visitor arrived in the tower. The wind was right and even the sand dunes across Lake Michigan were visible. But the marvelous sight failed to impress the lady.

"As she turned her back on it, a handful of woman's apparel came scooting out of the smokestack, a small hat actually whirling until finally it rested at a rakish angle across the smooth brow of Ceres.

Pure Iron Unknown

Although about 700,000,000 tons of iron are in use in the United States, not an ounce of chemically pure iron has ever been produced, states a writer in the New York Herald-Tribune. If the production of a quantity of pure iron could be accomplished, a revolution in the iron and steel industries would be likely to result from its investigation. The properties of pure iron are unknown and are merely guessed at on the basis of samples of high degrees of purity. The purest samples produced show unusual properties. Those made by methods used for determining the atomic weight of iron, by purification in a hydrogen flame, are immune to rust. Even when placed in pure water and oxygen for several months they showed no sign of rusting.

All Around the House

Footstools placed under the table will prove a source of great comfort to short people at meal times.

Tiny patties filled with chicken, crabmeat or lobster salad, served with afternoon tea, are appreciated by those who do not care for sweets.

Tomatoes will keep for three or four days in a mechanical refrigerator if placed stems down in a shallow pan.

If the pan in which chocolate is melted is lightly buttered, it will pour more easily.

LARGEST ELECTRIC SIGN DEPICTS A SEA SCENE ON BROADWAY

New York.—A huge electric display, the largest of its kind the world has ever seen, is now illuminating New York's famous Broadway.

Extending one full city block, the sign towers ten stories high and represents a million dollar investment.

The display depicts a tropical seascape with gigantic multi-colored fish gliding about in gentle, unhurried movements among rhythmic waves of sea-green light. Bubbles rise lazily to the top of the sign. The Wrigley chewing gum company, for whom the sign has been designed, carries out the soothing psychological effect with the message "Steadies the Nerves."

The sign contains 1,084 feet of neon tubing, almost 70 miles of insulated wire. More than 29,000 lamp receptacles and eight tons of galvanized sheet metal are used. The annual wattage consumed is sufficient to operate all the radios in the United States for two hours, while the electric current required for the display would serve every need of a city of 10,000.

King Edward Thrashed by Brakeman as a School Boy

How Edward VIII was thrashed by the brakeman of a train at Torquay, England, has been disclosed by S. A. Cooper, ticket collector at Torquay. More than 20 years ago, a train of Dartmouth naval cadets stopped at Torquay. The brakeman, passing down the corridor, received a pea behind the ear. The pea was fired from a pea-shooter. The brakeman entered the ear and locked the door. He invited the culprit to own up. The half-dozen cadets kept silent and so the brakeman methodically beat every cadet with his flagstick. Each lad took his punishment stoically. Later the brakeman was told that one of the lads was the future king.

KEEPING BUSY

Many men give themselves credit for attending to business when they are only visiting around, exchanging funny stories.

CONSTIPATED 30 YEARS

"For thirty years I had chronic constipation. Sometimes I did not go for four or five days. I also had awful gas bloating, headaches and pain in the back. Adierika helped right away. Now I eat sausage, bananas, pie, anything I want and never felt better. I sleep soundly all night and enjoy life."—Mrs. Mabel Schott.

If you are suffering from constipation, sleeplessness, sour stomach, and gas bloating, there is quick relief for you in Adierika. Many report action in 30 minutes after taking just one dose. Adierika gives complete action, cleaning your bowel tract where ordinary laxatives do not even reach.

Dr. H. L. Shoub, New York, reports: "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adierika checks the growth of intestinal bacteria and colon bacilli."

Give your stomach and bowels a real cleansing with Adierika and see how good you feel. Just one spoonful relieves GAS and chronic constipation. Sold by all druggists and drug departments.

A GREAT CONTRIBUTION TO EASIER, FASTER MORE ECONOMICAL FARMING

Guarantee—
This heavy, Super-Traction tread is guaranteed not to loosen from the tire body under any conditions, and all other parts of the tire are fully guaranteed to give satisfaction.

THREE years ago Harvey S. Firestone conceived the idea that farm work would be easier, faster, and more economical if it were done on rubber.

It was on the Old Homestead farm in Columbiana County, Ohio, which Mr. Firestone still operates, that he directed engineers and developed a practical pneumatic tire for tractors and every other wheeled implement on the farm. The result was a super-traction tire so unusual in design and so amazing in performance that a patent was issued on the tire by the United States Patent Office at Washington.

On tractors, Firestone Ground Grip Tires will do the work 25 per cent faster with a saving of 25 per cent in fuel cost. On sprayers, combines, binders and other farm implements they reduce draft 40 to 50 per cent; do not pack the soil, sink into soft ground or make ruts; protect equipment; do not damage crops and vines; speed up every farm operation.

One set of tires will fit several implements. Tires can be changed quickly from one implement to another. Two or three sets are all you need to take care of practically all your farm implements.

See the Firestone Tire Dealer, implement dealer or Firestone Auto Supply and Service Store today—and in placing your order for new equipment, be sure to specify Firestone Ground Grip Tires on your new tractor or farm implement.

READ WHAT FARMERS SAY ABOUT THESE REMARKABLE TIRES

"With my tractor on Ground Grips it has about one-third more power, pulls two sixteen-inch plows in high gear under all conditions."—R. A. Wharram, Stanley, Ia.

"I can move my tractor on Ground Grips from one job to another without the necessity of loading it onto a trailer."—Robert E. Hooker, Highlands, Calif.

"Mine is a two-plow tractor but it pulls three 14-inch plows easily in high gear since I put on Ground Grip Tires."—Frank Warrick, Rushville, Ind.

"Ground Grip Tires give my tractor 100% traction on soft, wet ground."—George State, Minot, N. D.

"Ground Grips save about one-half gallon tractor fuel per hour—show very little wear after two years."—L. R. Love, LaSalle, Colo.

"In doing custom work on Ground Grip Tires I can net $5 a day over the amount earned on steel lugs."—Harold Elsbury, Sutherland, Ia.

"Ground Grip Tires won't injure fields or roadbeds, or damage crops or seedlings."—Hugh G. Humphreys, New Hartford, N. Y.

IN MEMORIAM

Our darling child, aged 6 1/2 years old, died two years ago April 16, 1934.
We had a little treasure once,
He was our joy and pride.
We loved him, oh, perhaps too well,
For soon he slept, and died.
All is dark within our dwelling,
Lonely are our hearts today.
For the one we loved so dearly
Has forever passed away.

TINLEY PARK

The Tinley Park Woman's Club will hold a luncheon in the Methodist church at noon Wednesday April 22, to which the public is invited. A small charge will be made.

At two o'clock the annual business meeting of the club will be held with the president, Mrs. Omar Ebenhack, presiding. All club members are urged to be present.

Reports will be given by each officer and chairman and election of officers will be held.

The pupils of Mr. Fred Erickson will furnish music for the program.

Mrs. August Mesenbrink and Mrs. Roy Hannum will be the hostesses.

Mrs. Wm. Wannemacher who recently underwent an operation has returned home and is improving nicely.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Bagby was christened Sunday morning in the Tinley Park Catholic church, the name given being James Daniel Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Swisher and Mr. and Mrs. E. Anderson and son will visit with friends in Indiana, Sunday.

Louis Hermesmyer who has been operating a tavern in Tinley Park for a number of years, has quit the business. G. Dini expects to re-open this tavern in the near future.

The Tinley Park Business Men's Association held a business meeting Thursday night at which new promotional matters were taken up.

The Tinley Park Catholic church has been conducting services in the Saenger hall each Sunday morning for sometime held its first mass in the new quarters in the former Legion Hall last Sunday morning. The building has been newly renovated and decorated and now serves as an ideal place for church purposes.

Funk Brothers are having a new addition built to the west end of their tavern. The new room will be in use within the next few weeks.

T. J. Davis has re-opened his hatchery which has been out of commission since January following a fire. Mr. Davis does custom hatching and has his plant in full operation again.

TINLEY PARK CHORAL NEWS

The Music Hour Club will give a Mother's Tea April 26 for our mothers. We are preparing a program and hope to have our new costumes finished by that time. Several numbers are to be sung by selected singers as well as a few by the whole chorus.

Miss Morningstar's Juvenile band has been practicing a great deal the past few weeks. I wonder what that means?

Marian Mabae, Press Chairman

On behalf of the Ladies Aid society of Tinley Park English M. E. church, I wish to thank all our friends who so kindly sewed patches on our traveling apron; also those who by their lenten offerings so generously contributed to the success of our ceremony of "Building The Cross."

There was $22.86 under the patches on the apron and the mite boxes contained $33.00. The proceeds will be used to purchase new carpet for the church.

Mrs. E. B. Campbell, President.

TYO (Girls)

Well folks here goes for some more gossip of Tinley Park—

Who was the couple who say they had a blow-out? Was it accidental or were they on a lonely road?

What Romeo got home just about in time for breakfast Sunday morning? You oughta know Vogt.

What is the certain Miss that got a crush but is keeping it a secret? Too bad, he cant dance. Better learn how Bob.

Why does Clark Gable come roller skating only the nights that HIS Jean Harlow is there? Can it be love?

Who's the certain girl who is often lonely on certain nights and whose theme song is, "Where Are You?"

Well folks, sorry I have to leave you because I bet you would like to hear a little more, but I'll save the rest till next week. So long! The Vacuum (I pick up all the dirt)

CHI. NATIONAL BOAT & SPORTS SHOW MAY 3-10

An annual event which always attracts much interest in the suburban towns and Chicago communities, the National Boat and Sports Show is scheduled for Navy Pier, May 3 to 10, inclusive. According to Hubbard (Hub) Erickson, manager of the famous outdoor and maritime exposition since its beginning 7 years ago, the show has added many attractions and new features scheduled this spring indicate the record breaking attendance of 146,000 in 1935 is certain to be surpassed.

The big Sports show, with its "seven ring circus" of competition in such events as bait and fly casting, horse shoe pitching, archery, rifle and pistol shooting, stationary bicycle racing and other events, always attracts camping, fishing and hunting enthusiasts, male and female, from all Chicagoland communities and is the sort of event that all members of the family like.

The perennially attractive sport, horseshoe pitching, annually draws hundreds of entries from all four classes of competition — men, women, boys and girls. Such famous tossers as the Schultz sisters of Harvey usually show up to prove that women are just as expert as men in the sport that the fire hose boys made famous. This year there will be professional instruction in the art of ringing the iron peg, giving all visitors a chance to improve their skill. The Chicago American sponsors the horseshoe tournament.

Bait and fly casting contests, sponsored by the Chicago Tribune, rifle and pistol shooting, sponsored by the Daily News, archery contests, sponsored by the Herald and Examiner, and the Daily Times, stationary bicycle racing contest, will all interest participants and spectators as well. Such suburban communities as Berwyn, for instance, always furnish leaders in the bait casting contests, and "crack shots" from Oak Park, Chicago Heights and Highland Park are among the entries in the shooting competition.

For the first time, the state of Illinois will officially join in the Chicago Boat and Sports Show, manager Erickson points out. C. F. Thompson Director of Conservation, announces from Springfield that our state has an interesting out-of-door exhibit under construction. Exhibits from such famous woodland states as Minnesota and Wisconsin, will, as usual, bring a real touch of nature to the mile long Navy Pier.

All the latest in fishing tackle, hunting gear, and camp equipment such as tents and auto trailers, will be seen at the big show.

This year the boats, both sail and motor, will be seen in greater profusion than ever before. Nearly all the builders of water-going craft, especially of boats used on the Great Lakes and rivers, will show their very latest designs and models.

The big show, during its eight day run, which includes two Sundays, will have a great variety of entertainment features, including Indian singers and animal imitators, lumberjacks, radio stars and other attractions. The show will be opened from 1 p. m. to 11 p. m. each day.

Navy Pier has been completely rejuvenated, including the installation of a new heating system for use in chilly weather, and the decorations for the big show are particularly attractive to the sportsman.

Special days will include Illinois Day, Wisconsin Day, Isaac Walton Day, Minnesota Day, Yachtmen Day, Aviation evening, Baseball stars Evening, etc.

The Shop Now Goes To The Farmer

It isn't news when a farmer goes to town to shop, but it is when the shop goes to the farmer. And that's what will happen when the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, in cooperation with local dealers, brings its trailer equipped to carry the message of electricity and its appliances to the vicinity of Mokena during April.

The trailer, modern in every detail, even to curtains and a radio, has been equipped with an electric refrigerator, electric range, washing machine, ironer, electric hot water heaters, toasters, and many other appliances that are found in city homes. It has been wired so that all appliances can be demonstrated.

"The trailer fills a definite need," said M. J. Musser, Public Service Company district manager, "because our rural electrification program is reaching into every corner of the Company's territory and because every year has shown an increase in the number of our rural customers. These customers and people not already connected on rural lines will have an opportunity to see what modern electrical appliances can do to aid them."

The Public Service Company has fostered rural electrification for many years, and recently, to provide an additional stimulus to this activity, has adopted an even more liberal plan for rural line extensions than previously in use. Under this plan, the amount of electric service which the customer agrees to use monthly has been reduced to about 60 per cent of what it was before.

"I'M DOUBLY GLAD I BOUGHT A MODERN GAS RANGE"

Modernize your kitchen

Start with a new, efficient gas range. Add other units as circumstances permit. Soon you will have a modern, beautiful work-saving kitchen you can be proud of!

• "What a difference it has made in the appearance of my kitchen! What a sparkling beauty it is! So easy to keep clean!"

"But more important, how easy it is now to obtain perfect cooking and baking results. With my wonder range, I never have a baking failure. And my kitchen always stays cool no matter how much baking I do."

It's true. The new, modern gas ranges will thrill you with their beauty and many improvements. You will like their greater convenience. They are better insulated . . . have perfected oven heat regulators that assure better baking results. Their burners light automatically when you flick the handle. They are equipped with a hinged burner-cover that forms a handy table-top. But come in and see for yourself. Inspect the many new models now on display. Learn how easily you can own one. Then trade in your old stove while our special allowances and terms are offered.

To cover interest a somewhat higher price is charged for Ranges sold on deferred payments.

Ford - FOR ECONOMY

"The Ford V-8 uses less fuel and oil for the power it gives than any other car we have ever made

AND ITS UP-KEEP COST IS THE LOWEST"

ENTHUSIASTIC sales talk often begins and ends with gasoline mileage. Some salesmen would like you to believe it is the whole story of automobile economy. But drivers ought to know better. For, the fact is, it's way down the list.

The big items of car economy are low first cost, low up-keep cost and low depreciation. Savings here can make a great deal of difference in cost per mile. Gasoline mileage is more of a talking point than an economy factor.

Check up and you will find that the difference between 17 and 19 miles a gallon is less than $10 for a whole year's average driving (8400 miles at 18 cents a gallon). Here are the big items that make the Ford the most economical car:

More value for every dollar you pay.

Lower cost for repairs and service.

Long life. Slow depreciation.

Quality means economy and the 1936 Ford V-8 gives you more real quality than any other low-price car. No other car under $1645 has a V-8 engine. No other low-price car has Center-Poise Riding, safe, sure mechanical brakes and Safety Glass all around at no extra cost.

SYNOPSIS

The Duke, Barry Gilbert, likable youth of twenty-three, jobless and broke, enters an unoccupied summer home in Southampton, seeking shelter from a storm. He makes himself at home, dozing at the fireplace, he is startled by the arrival of a butler, Willetts; and a chauffeur, Evans. He learns that the son of the owner of the house, Jack Ridder, whom the servants had never seen, is expected. He decides to bluff it out. His supposed parents have left for Germany. Next morning he is given a letter for his "mother." He opens it and finds a message from the real Jack, saying he could not come, and returning a hundred-dollar bill. The boy's father had pensioned him into obscurity. Barry pockets the money, intending to return it later. He orders Evans to take him to Montauk, intending to disappear there. On the way he meets Judge Hambridge and his daughter, Patricia. Believing he is Jack Ridder, she invites him to dinner the following Thursday. Barry returns to Southampton, deciding to stay a bit longer. Mr. Ridder, Sr., through his newspaper, the Globe, accuses Judge Hambridge of taking orders from Tammany Hall in a condemnation proceeding. Barry meets Peter Winslow, prominent attorney. Winslow tells Barry that Judge Hambridge had seen an accident in which a woman was killed by a taxi cab. At home Barry finds the wife of the real Jack Ridder awaiting him. Her husband is in jail in New York, charged with the murder of Mike Kelly, Tammany boss.

CHAPTER III—Continued

Everything about the girl was a contradiction, the Duke thought. Hard, and yet soft, with her steely eyes, and her quivering lips. Her English was rather better than fairly good, and yet she could say, "He's a tough guy—that bird!" Beaded eye-lashes, and "a little boy." A chorus girl who believed in her husband, and came an hundred miles through the night to help him. A philosopher, the Duke, as we have seen, and he found himself musing, "Is anyone black or white? Aren't we all contradictions—kind of a dirty gray?"

"Go on," he said.

"Well, Jack was getting this fifty from the old man's lawyer—when I met him. We were playing West Palm Beach, and he followed me to Miami. Hadn't anything else to do. He was drinking all the time, and I knew he'd never quit until he had to. 'I'll marry you,' I told him, 'but not while you're loafing around on money you get from a guy that's ashamed of you. I want a home,' I said, 'and a husband I can respect. You get a job, and I'll marry you.'"

"Did he?"

"Yes, he did, and I married him. That week, it was a good job, too—night clerk in a big hotel at Palm Beach. After that, we let the fifty lay in the post office. Jack didn't want to, at first, but I said, 'We're going to make Jay Rogers mean something, and then we're going back and talk turkey to the old man.' We had a swell little home, and the kid came, and he's swell, too. And then, all at once, the boom busted right in our face, and the hotel closed, and we beat it back to New York. Say, what am I telling you this for?"

"Go on."

"Well, the next chapter's the same old story. No money. No job. Tramping the streets, looking for work. Know what that's like?"

"I invented it," said the Duke.

"Well, then, you know. Things kept happening. The boy got sick, and the people we rented the room from threatened to put us out, and I guess Jack couldn't stand it. So he went to see his mother—without telling me. He didn't tell her about me, either."

"The old lady gave him a hundred bucks, and invited him down here. I don't know what else happened, because I was so mad he didn't dare tell me. Proud? Well, partly, but I guess the truth is I was scared they'd separate us. Anyway, I made him send the money back. 'What're we going to do?' he said. 'Let the kid starve? I can't get work.' 'No,' I answered, 'but maybe I can. I'm a good hoover, if I do say it myself, and there's worse-looking girls in a lot of shows.'"

"Well, there wasn't an Aborn show in town. Or any other regular show that wanted me. So last Monday I landed in a joint, called The Coconut Bar. One of those places where you get a ten-course dinner and a revue for two dollars, and both of 'em rotten. Salad without dressing, and you don't care because the show girls are the same way. Tough spot—The Coconut Bar—but I wasn't choosy last Monday."

"So, then, Jack was mad."

"Plenty. He'd been promised a place as elevator man in Brooklyn, but we couldn't wait for that. You can be as straight in a cabaret as you can in a convent, if you want to do. Oh, well—last night, Mike Kelly came in. About eight o'clock. With two strong-arm guys. I knew him right away, because he was five weeks at the hotel where Jack worked in Palm Beach. And he sat down, and sent for the boss—Luis Morano, the boss is—and they had a stiff pow-wow. Morano was sore all through when he came back where the dressing rooms are. And then we swung into a number, called 'Tinkle Me.' The girls go up to the men, in that number, and paw 'em a good deal. And, in the middle of this pawing, Kelly jumps up, and yells that I've tried to pick his pocket. I'd really just got to him, as another girl left, but he grabbed my arm, and shouted so you could have heard him in Harlem. Luis ran over, and the bouncer brought a cop, and a crowd gathered.

"Kelly'd been drinking a lot. 'You can't get away with that!' he kept yelling at Morano. 'I'll send this girl to the island, and you to the hot-spot! You watch me!'"

"I got nothing to do with it," Luis answered. 'I don't even know this girl. She only came Monday. Isn't that right, boys?'"

"Well, the end of it was that I walked out with the cop. I'd've been in the lock-up yet, only there was a decent young fellow on the desk at the station house. He let me go on my promise to return if I was wanted, there being no one there to sign the complaint."

While she talked, the Duke was thinking.

Astonishing things had happened, and went on happening. Were astonishing things always happening, everywhere? And did they come about as quietly as this; as much as though they were the commonplace of daily routine?

"You've walked into a pretty mess," the girl had said. But, after all it wasn't his mess. So far as he was concerned, the game was up.

He had made full and complete confession to this girl, without a moment's hesitation. Firstly, because the game was up, anyway, and, secondly, because it had seemed the right moment for laying cards on the table. He had asked to see her hand, and he couldn't expect to do that without showing his own. Without inspiring her confidence.

Why did he want to inspire her confidence? What was her story to him? Why should he care what happened to a woman he had never seen—in Bad Nauheim? But, damn it, he had seen her! He had seen into her mind and heart, which is a good deal more than looking at a face, or a black satin dress. Her life would be over with this. And the old man's. The doctor says any shock might prove serious. One false step on your part, if he knew, would end everything forever. And he would know. Ill as he is, he still has his newspaper sent him, and he still reads every word.

The Duke felt sorry for these young people, too—for that foolish young husband who "wouldn't hurt a fly," and for this painted, hard-soft young wife and mother, who had wanted a home and a man she could respect.

Patricia? Well, that hurt. He had known it would. He had known, from that first day, that he cared a lot for this girl who needed a spanking, but he had known, too, that his caring wasn't going to come to anything. Even if his luck had held, you couldn't marry a girl like that, and then have her find out that you were "a bum." An impostor. It didn't matter now. What mattered now was whether this boy had killed Mike Kelly. And, if he hadn't, whether it was "going to make much difference"—with all the Boss' cohorts arrayed against him. And, anyway, how the whole business was to be kept—for a while, at least—from the woman who was "counting the days" to his letter at Nauheim.

"You've got your nerve," Peggy O'Day had said. "Well, that's what we need now." And, as he listened, Barry was more and more compelled to agree with her.

"We got home around half past ten," the girl had been saying, "and Jack was wild when he saw the cop, and heard the story. 'I'll be back for you tomorrow,' the cop said, 'and you'd better be here. This department takes its orders from Mike Kelly, and don't you forget that.'"

"I'm going to see Mike Kelly," Jack says. 'I knew him pretty well in Palm Beach. And I know where he lives. I'll be back here by midnight.'"

"He was—just as the clock was striking. I remember that, because I thought of a line from a burlesque of an old play I was in once. 'The hour has struck, and I am here.' Jack was all-a-tremble. 'The son of a sea-cook!' he says. 'The dirty skunk! I'll get that guy some day!'"

"Wouldn't he see you?" I asked.

"Sure, he saw me," Jack said. 'The butler brought me right in—a Jap, or a Filipino, or something. Kelly'd been drinking, and he was drinking more—in the dining room. He came in to me, in the drawing room, though, and shut the doors behind him. The Jap—or the Filipino, came in after, with a bottle of Scotch whiskey, and two glasses, and Mike kept on drinking. I had one with him. He was pleased enough to start with. The telephone rang in the hall, and he apologized for going out to answer it. When he came back, 'You'll have to make it snappy,' he says. 'I've got an important conference here in a few minutes.'"

"So then I told him about you, and he went nutty."

"She's a damned little thief!" he yelled.

"She's my wife," I answered.

"Your wife!" he said, "Yes, and I guess anybody's wife that wants her!"

"Don't say that," I asked him.

"I'll say anything I damn please!"

he shouted. "What the hell are you, telling me what to say? A guy living off a girl at Spanish Luis Morano's! Well, I don't give a damn who you live off, but when Luis sics 'em on to lifting stuff out of my pocket, they got the wrong bird! This dame's going to jail tomorrow, and I'm going to headquarter myself to be sure she does go! Now, get out!" he says.

"Well, of course, Jack loses his temper. They yelled at each other a few minutes, and then Jack says he calmed down. 'Listen,' he says, as quietly as I'm talking now. 'I don't amount to much, and I guess I know it as well as you do. But you let up on my wife, or I'll never let up on you as long as I live—so help me!'"

"And, with that, he flounces out of the house."

"Did you bang the door?" I asked, trying to make him laugh.

"I banged both of 'em," he answered. 'The door from the drawing room into the hall, and the front door. I mean what I said, too. If you're arrested tomorrow—'"

She paused for a moment, and slumped back into her chair, as though completely exhausted.

"You'll find the rest in the paper," she concluded. "The cops picked him up about three o'clock this afternoon. He thought they'd come for me, first, and he said a few things about Kelly that aren't going to help much. I don't know yet why they didn't pick me up, too. Anyway, when they'd gone, I did a whole lot of thinking. And I decided this wasn't a good minute for pride, or anything. 'If they're going to separate us,' I said, 'why, they're going to, and that's that.' So I took a chance, and the first train I could get after I'd found somebody to look after the boy. When the butler told me Mr. Ridder'd be home around midnight, I figured my luck had changed. Of course, I never thought of a fake Ridder."

There was no ill-will in her tone; only a faint amusement, succeeded, almost immediately, by desperate earnestness.

"Well, that's my story," she said. "God only knows why I told you. I came out here to tell it, because I didn't think even that tough old bird would want to see his boy sent up for murder. Now—what do we do? Cable? I haven't got money enough; have you? I haven't got a lawyer, or a dollar to hire one. I haven't got a relative that I know about, or a friend in the world. Just a sick kid at home, and a fellow I'm kind of strong for locked up in the Tombs."

She had asked, "What do we do?"

"I haven't got money enough; have you?" Taken him into partnership; that's what she had. Into one of those natural, inevitable partnerships of people who have no one to whom they have the right to turn; the kinship of the poor, and despised, and out-cast.

"I know a great lawyer," said the Duke. "A great criminal lawyer. I met him tonight. A fellow named Winslow."

"Not Peter Winslow?"

The Duke nodded.

"Yes, he's great enough, but he'd never take my case."

"He might take mine," the Duke mused, aloud. "We struck up quite

"I Know a Great Lawyer," Said the Duke.

a friendship. He offered to get me a job. Of course, that's all off, because—"

"Because why?"

"Because he isn't going to do anything for me when he finds I'm a fake. Nobody is, when they know I'm not John Clarke Ridder, Jr."

The Duke rose, slowly, and walked across the room.

He was thinking hard.

"Nobody is," he repeated, still more slowly, as he returned to the chair in which was sitting the wife of the real "Jack" Ridder. "But why should they find out now?"

The girl looked at him, wide-eyed. "I don't get you."

"It's easy," he answered, still slowly, and very deliberately. "People don't do anything for fakes, or cast-offs accused of murder. They won't do anything for the real John Ridder, because he's broke and in disgrace. But they might do a lot for the fake John Ridder—if they didn't know he was a fake."

"I guess I'm dumb," Peggy said, "but still I don't get you."

"Listen."

He resumed his seat in the small chair opposite her.

"You came out to get old John Clarke to help you."

"Yes."

Swagger Knitted Coat for Spring or Summer That Is Done in Simple Stitch

She's mistress of all she surveys—and you're certain to be, too, if you elect this swagger knitted coat for easy making and all-round wear this spring and summer. So easy to knit in a simple loose stitch, with stock-inette stitch for the contrasting border, you'll find Germantown wool knits up very fast.

In pattern 5534 you will find complete instructions for making the swagger coat shown in sizes 16-18 and 38-40; an illustration of it and of all the stitches needed; material requirements.

KEMP'S BALSAM

FEMININE WEAKNESS

MRS. Mary E. Frost of 701 O'Hara St., Bloomington, Ill., has said: "Some years ago I couldn't sleep and was barely able to eat. I would become nauseated so easily. I used to have awful headaches and felt so tired after day. I used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it did me a world of good. I was able to eat, slept at night, the headaches disappeared and I felt just fine in every way." Buy now of your druggist.

Extract of Adrenal Gland Increases Dog's Endurance

Experiments at the University of Virginia show that injections of minute amounts of adrenal gland cortex extract more than doubles the endurance of dogs.

Experiments on tadpoles show that alcohol causes nerve endings to retract from their points of contact with the skin. This interferes with nerve functions.

No Need to Suffer "Morning Sickness"

"Morning sickness"—is caused by an acid condition. To avoid it, acid must be offset by alkalis—such as magnesia.

Why Physicians Recommend Milnesia Wafers

These mint-flavored, candy-like wafers are pure milk of magnesia in solid form—the most pleasant way to take it. Each wafer is approximately equal to a full adult dose of liquid milk of magnesia. Chewed thoroughly, then swallowed, they correct acidity in the mouth and throughout the digestive system and insure quick, complete elimination of the waste matters that cause gas, headaches, bloated feelings and a dozen other discomforts.

Milnesia Wafers come in bottles of 20 and 48, at 35¢ and 60¢ respectively, and in convenient tins for your handbag containing 12 at 20¢. Each wafer is approximately one adult dose of milk of magnesia. All good drug stores sell and recommend them.

Start using these delicious, effective anti-acid, gently laxative wafers today

Professional samples sent free to registered physicians or dentists if request is made on professional letterhead. Select Products, Inc., 4402 23rd St., Long Island City, N. Y.

TAKE A TIP FROM ME... IF YOU'VE GOT COFFEE-NERVES TRY POSTUM!

CHILDREN should never drink coffee... and the caffeine in coffee disagrees with many grown-ups, too. If you are bothered by headaches or indigestion, or can't sleep soundly... try Postum for 30 days! It contains no caffeine. It is simply whole wheat and bran, roasted and slightly sweetened. Easy to make, costs less than one-half cent a cup. It's delicious, too... and may prove a real help. A product of General Foods.

FREE—Let us send you your first week's supply of Postum free! Simply mail the coupon. ©1936, G. F. Corp.

Redhead Was No Flirt

She was red-headed, so the traffic cop's remonstrance was couched in dulcet tones after he untangled the traffic snarl.

“But you should have held out your hand to indicate you were going to turn,” he murmured.

“I should say not!” snorted the fiery one. “Some of those loafers would think I was waving at them and trying to flirt. Is that all?”

“Yes, ma'am,” said the cop meekly.

Bad News

On one of his many prison visits the chaplain had found one of the prisoners who was undergoing a sentence for burglary, very upset.

“What is the matter, my man?” he inquired.

“I've got bad news from 'ome, sir.”

“I'm very sorry to hear that; what is it?”

“My brother, sir,” replied the man, bitterly, “e's gone into the work-house, sir; the first of our family to disgrace us.”—Montreal Star.

Smart Shirred Sleeves
Have a Piquant Charm

Pattern No. 1846-B

Lovely shirred sleeves finished off with wide contrasting cuffs and a jaunty neckline are enchanting features of this dress. Carry it out in a becoming polka dot of crepe, silk, lawn, or a smooth rayon. By the way it's very easily made because the dress is all one piece with two pleats and stitchings in the front skirt, and a flattering blouse that's trimmed with square buttons. It's accented at the waist with either a self-fabric or purchased belt.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1846-B is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Corresponding bust measurements 30, 32, 34, 36 and 38. Size 14 (32) requires 4½ yards of 35 inch material plus ¾ yard for contrasting neck band and cuffs.

Send your order to The Sewing Circle Pattern Dept., 367 W. Adams St., Chicago, Ill.
